

Cheryl A. Kirk-Duggan*

I Cry For You

I cry for you
Never held, never loved
I cry for you
Unwanted child, you turtle dove
I cry for you
Who needs love, hugs, and care
I cry for you
God let someone
For you be there.

I cry for you
So destitute, so all alone
I cry for you
Little lost sheep
No one to lean on
I cry for you
Without hope, short on care
I cry for you
Lord help us all
To do our share.

Love the children
Who come here as gifts
Love the children
Don't let them be short shrift
Love the children
Take time to care

*Cheryl A. Kirk-Duggan is the director, Center for Women and Religion, Graduate Theological Union, Berkeley, California. "I Cry for You" is an unpublished song lyric, 2000, and is published with permission of the author.

The Journal of the ITC

Make room for them
Look deep inside
And see the child there
And remember
You too need love
You need to give love.

I cry for you
How could adults
Be so cruel
I cry for you
We fail to ensure
The best schools
I cry for you
God's precious gems
Who'll polish you.

I cry for us
Look what we've lost
Cause we don't care.

